

Protecting Your Privacy

Posting your resumé on a public job board (Monster, CareerBuilder etc.) can be hazardous. You never know who will see it. Candidates are finding their resúmes on job boards that obtain their resumé through "spiders" that go out and capture data from other web sites. They can stay posted on these public boards for months. That's why you will get calls from companies or other recruiters months after your first posting or even after you have removed your resumé off these web sites. Our website is not a public job board. It's a secure database accessible only to MRI Sales Consultants of Madison professional search consultants who understand the importance of privacy when making a career move.

We safeguard your confidentiality throughout the placement process. The only way we can attract the best talent is to ensure our candidates' confidentiality.
